

All About Next Thing Education Camps

We are looking forward to meeting you when you come to our Tech Camp at Longlevens. Below is some more information about us and what we do so you can have a better idea of what our Tech camp will look like on the day.

Who are we?

At Next Thing Education we are more than just a childcare provider. Our holiday tech camps allow children to gain technical skills from a young age enabling them to shape the future. From conquering new skills to forging lifelong friendships with other tech-oholics, get in line for a truly innovative experience in your school break!

We only hire the best staff to take care of your children and our parents trust us to deliver exceptional stimulating education with highly qualified teachers with DBS checks with a passion for technology.

We will promote children's emotional and physical welfare and bring our top priority delivered by staff who take the time to understand children's needs and support them at the camp.

Maintaining a safe environment is our priority. Our camps run with fully trained staff and sites that have been approved for health & safety so you can ensure your child will be safe in the holiday season.

Where are we?

This is where we will be for our activity session. Drop off instructions: Enter through the gate at the top of The Elms (road that runs up alongside the library off Church Road)
